Hello!

Good-by, happy trails, may the sun shine on your path;
May there be sweet dreams in your bed,
and hot water in your bath.
May your food be good not costly;
may new friends become as old;
In seeking out surprises, may you be a wee bit bold.
Keep this little book beside you to record your trip's delights:
Stick in tickets, fill with photos,
write in all the sounds and sights
It's a travelling companion, and will be for years to come...
One with a perfect memory, and comfortably at home!

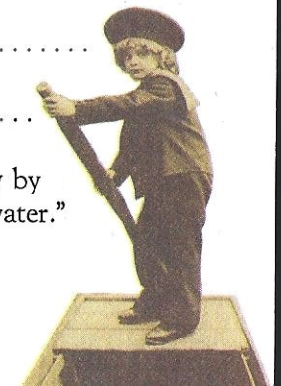
Diary

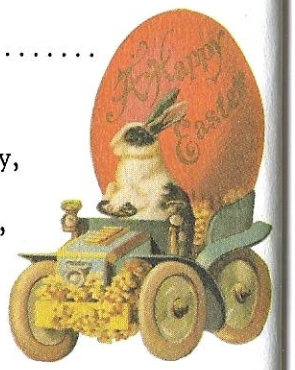
"You can't cross the sea merely by standing and staring at the water."

Rabindranath Tagore



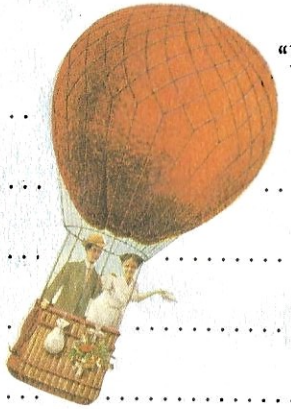
I hied me off to Arcady–
The month it was the month of May,
And all along the pleasant way,
The morning birds were mad with glee,
And all the flowers sprang up to see,
As I went on to Arcady.

Louise Chandler Moulton



"'A slow sort of country,' said the Queen. 'Now, here, you see, it takes all the running you can do, to keep in the same place. If you want to get somewhere else, you must run at least twice as fast as that!'"

Lewis Carroll



"Look ere ye leape."

John Heywood

"In life there is nothing more unexpected and surprising than the arrivals and departures of pleasure."

Alexander Smith

Oh, would you go a-sailing
Upon the light, light breeze?
Above the town and country,
Above the tallest trees?

Edith M. Thomas

I wonder if the poplar-tree
Is standing, as it used to stand,
Beside the street, the first to greet
The traveler to the Pleasant Land!

Edith M. Thomas

"Lead me to the rock that is higher than I."

Psalms. LXI, 2

"A walk with a dog, around the block, is a great journey if the eyes and the heart are open to the surprise of that small world."

Grace McFarland

"Hie him home, at evening's close,
To sweet repast and calm repose."

Thomas Gray

I see my way as birds their trackless way.
I shall arrive! what time, what circuit first,
I ask not; but unless God send his hail
Or blinding fireballs, sleet or stifling snow,
In some time, his good time, I shall arrive:
He guides me and the bird. In his good time!

Robert Browning

"The works of nature will bear
a thousand views and reviews;
the more frequently and narrowly we look into them the more occasion
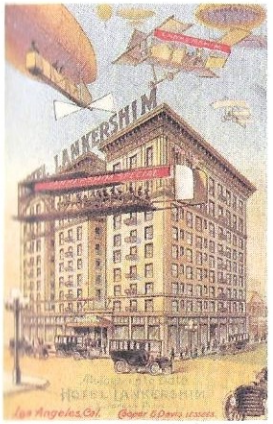
we shall have to admire their beauty."

Atterbury



"What is the city but the people?"

William Shakespeare

"Good company in a journey makes the way to seem the shorter."

Izaak Walton

"The traveler sees what he sees, the tourist sees what he has come to see."

G. K. Chesterton

"This be my pilgrimage and goal,
Daily to march and find
The secret phrases of the soul,
The evangels of the mind."

John Drinkwater

Two shall be born the whole wide world apart
And speak in different tongues and have no thought
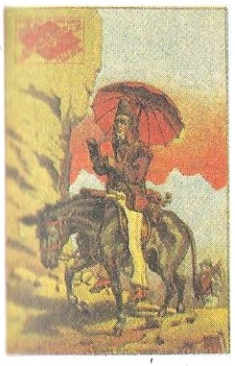
Each of the other's being and no heed. . . .
One day out of darkness they shall meet
And read life's meaning in each other's eyes.

Susan Marr Spalding

I am in love with high far-seeing places
That look on plains half-sunlight and half-storm,
In love with hours when from the circling faces
Veils pass, and laughing fellowship grows warm.

Arthur Davison Ficke



"I wished it were mine to wander endlessly amid the silence of the ancient world, today and all its sounds forgotten."

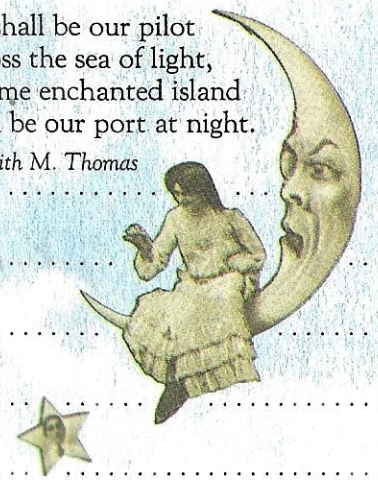
George Gissing

"The pleasure of travel. . . exists as a matter of fact in retrospect and seldom in the present, at the instant when it is being experienced."

Joris Karl Huysmans

A star shall be our pilot
Across the sea of light,
And some enchanted island
Shall be our port at night.

Edith M. Thomas



"Though we travel the world over to find the beautiful, we must carry it with us, or we find it not."

Ralph Waldo Emerson

O that I was where I would be,
Then would I be where I am not;
But where I am I must be,
And where I would be I can not.

Old nursery rhyme

"We now know a method of mounting into the air, and, I think, are not likely to know more. The vehicles can serve no use till we can guide them; and they can gratify no curiosity till we mount with them to greater heights than we can reach without."

Samuel Johnson, on balloon travel, per Boswell

If there's a heaven upon the earth, a fellow knows it when
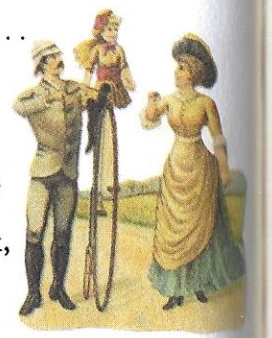
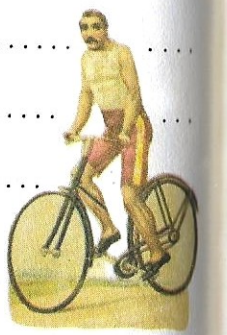
He's been away from home a week,
and then gets back again.

Will Carleton



"We are never tired, so long as we can see far enough."

Ralph Waldo Emerson



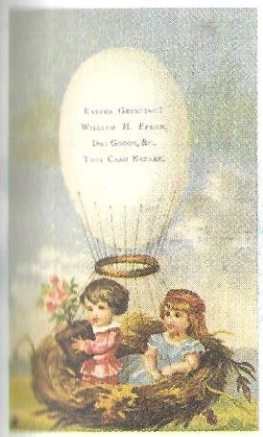
Mementos

When my life has enough of love,
And my spirit enough of mirth,
When the ocean no longer beckons me,
When the roadway calls no more,
Oh, on the anvil of Thy wrath,
Remake me, God, that day!

Arthur Stringer

"The world is a book, and those who do not travel, read only a page."

St. Augustine

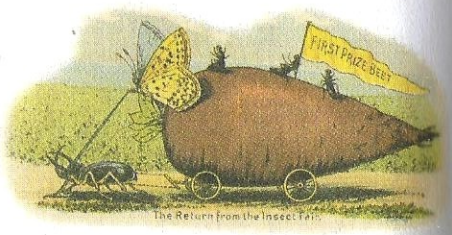


"Life is a train of moods like a string of beads, and as we pass through them they prove to be many-colored lenses which paint the world their own hue, and each shows only what lies in its focus."

Ralph Waldo Emerson

"What I preserve can perish never,
What I forego is lost forever."

James Montgomery



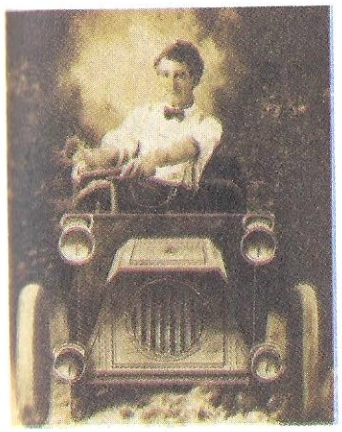
The Return from the Insect Fair

"The use of travelling is to regulate imagination by reality, and instead of thinking how things may be, to see them as they are."

Samuel Johnson, per Boswell

"We have had an unspeakably delightful journey, —one of those journeys which seem to divide one's life in two, by the new ideas they suggest and the new views of interest they open."

George Eliot (Marian Evans Cross)



The little Road says, Go;
The little House says, Stay;
And oh, it's bonny here at home,
But I must go away.

Josephine Preston Peabody

'Mid pleasures and palaces
though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble,
there's no place like home.

John Howard Payne

"I would make a list against the evil days
Of lovely things to hold in memory."

Richard Le Gallienne

Addresses

The folks at home & new acquaintances.

"I look upon every day to be lost,
in which I do not make a new acquaintance."

Samuel Johnson, per Boswell

"There is in every good-bye an echo of hello."

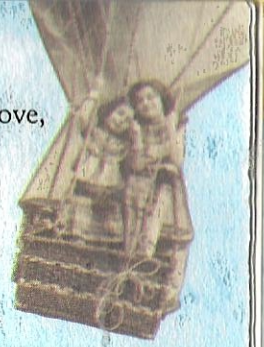
Grace McFarland

"Turn our hearts, where'er we rove,
To those we've left behind us."

Thomas Moore



"I say to thee,—do thou repeat
To the first man thou mayest meet
In lane, highway, or open street,
That he and we and all men move
Under a canopy of love
As broad as the blue sky above."

Richard Chevenix Trench

"There's no place like home."
